

“It’s All About the Relationship... Looking at Horse/Human Connections Energetically”

Horses are highly sensitive, empathic beings who respond to their human caretaker's thoughts, emotions, intentions--both conscious and unconscious in a variety of ways.

Our bodies telegraph "the real story" to their impeccable emotional radar via our body's language and physiological arousal signals. Our bodies and our horses are dialoguing regarding the "real truth" and the "real story" of what we are experiencing.

Experiencing your relationship with your horse from their perspective helps awaken you to your own truth, moves you into authenticity and empowers you to make authentic choices.

Horses will often agree to "take on" their owners unconscious emotional baggage and it often manifests in accidents, physical disease and "misbehavior" or acting out.

Evening Tea & Lecture:

2/29, 6 - 9pm

Cost: $25

We will explore the horse/human relational dynamic from within the perspective of shamanism, shamanic healing, energy healing, emotional resonance, projection and transference, vicarious traumatization, empathy and the environmental field of consciousness. We'll look at the dynamics of healthy boundary setting in the horse/human relationship and the impact on health, communication and behavior of both horse and human.
